Americans for Prosperity Applauds U.S. Senate Candidate Sue Lowden

- Signs No Climate Tax Pledge-

WASHINGTON—The free-market grassroots group Americans for Prosperity (AFP) today applauded U.S. Senate candidate Sue Lowden for signing the group's "No Climate Tax Pledge." Lowden is running the Republican primary in Nevada for the right to challenge Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, who is an ardent supporter of cap-and-trade energy tax policies. Lowden joins more than 325 bipartisan lawmakers and candidates on the federal, state and local levels pledging to "oppose legislation relating to climate change that includes a net increase in government revenue."

"The one thing elected officials should be able to agree on is that global warming shouldn't be used as an excuse to hike taxes on citizens and businesses," said AFP Vice President for Policy Phil Kerpen. "We encourage all Nevada's elected officials and candidates to sign the pledge."

Other prominent pledge signers include: U.S. Senators Tom Coburn, Jim Inhofe and John Thune; U.S. House Minority Leader John Boehner, and Lt. Govs. Bill Bolling (Va.) and Peter Kinder (Mo.).

Cap-and-trade took its first step toward enactment last year when the U.S. House narrowly passed the Waxman-Markey energy tax bill, which escaped the lower chamber by a scant seven votes despite significant bipartisan opposition. The U.S. Senate has struggled to pass companion legislation, with several key Democratic senators openly expressing opposition to attempting to pass the energy tax bill.

President Obama has made no secret of his support for the bill, which would be the largest tax increase in American history. The non-partisan Congressional Budget Office has scored the House plan as an $846 billion increase in federal revenue, a burden that will be borne by taxpayers and consumers for decades to come.

"Using the guise of climate change to transfer dollars from hard-working citizens to bureaucratic big government is unacceptable," said Kerpen. "Regardless of their stance on global warming, this should be common ground for all of our elected officials at all levels of government."

The pledge is available online at www.NoClimateTax.com. AFP does not endorse candidates. All elected officials and candidates are encouraged to sign the pledge and go on the record in opposition to using the climate change issue to increase taxes and grow the size of government.
